Practical Resources Integrating Math & Economics©
Lessons for Kindergarten, Grade One and Grade Two

A Math & Economics Resources

From EconomicsAmerica, Cleveland Center of Ashland University
www.ashland.edu/economicamericacleveland

Brought to you by the creators of the national award winning “EPIC” series, PRIME focuses on creative methods to teach problem solving, application of knowledge and everyday relevancy of Mathematics and Economics. Academic Content Standards come alive in stories, hobbies, the neighborhood and current events. In an effort to combat very real issues with Math phobia, PRIME uses teams and an interactive approach to learning. Test results from the 2004-2005 pilot program show PRIME works!

Each grade level includes:

- Eight Lessons tied to multiple Math and Economics Standards, Benchmarks and Indicators. Four of the lessons use popular Literature Books to apply the Standards
- A list of materials and suggested time allocation
- Directions & Instructional Sequence with independent parts
- Evaluation tools
- Extension activities

With the help of PRIME, it is hoped students will

- Overcome Math phobia barriers that inhibit the study of mathematics
- Improve their understanding of critical math and economic concepts
- Enjoy learning in an interactive, interesting environment
- Develop life skills needed for the years ahead
- Meet the Academic Content Standards measured by Achievement and Diagnostic tests
